

A few important points to note when posing questions

- 1) The purpose of asking a question on Deen is to learn so that one can make amal. Rasoolullah (sallallahu alayhi wasallam) said: "The cure for ignorance is asking". So ask questions related to your personal a'maal or beliefs. Do not ask questions related to other people or organisations.
- 2) Do not mention names of organisations or people.
- 3) Do not ask questions in order to get the better of the next person. Sometimes we know what the answer will be, but our purpose of asking is to just so that it can be shown that the other person is at fault. This is contrary to sincerity.
- 4) If one genuinely wants another person to be guided if he or she hears the correct answer, then there is nothing wrong in asking a question of that nature.
